Judy and Mitzy Bridges serve lunches with a smile.

Our bus drivers are J.R. Curry, Helen Nohren, Dennis Overmeyer, Elaine Stratton, Randy Kesley, Jack Owens, and Dick Hite.

Grace Moffett, secretary, handles many lunch tickets each day.

Another secretary, Peggy Bullerman, is also a special personnel member.

Enrollment Declines But Faculty

Increases

The faculty at Windsor High School have their work cut out for them. Along with their classes, many have other activities at school, some of which are: class advisors, club sponsors, play directors, coaches, and chaperones for other activities.

Still Crazy After Four Big Years Together

The senior class of '80 brought its high school career to an end, but after four years together many memories remained. The highlights of the freshman year were attending new classes in a different building, selling blue ink pens, and participating in bake sales and pop sales. Sophomore year meant class rings and drivers' licenses. Calendars were sold for a money-making project; also, more bake sales and pop sales added to the fun. The third year was full of even more excitement. As juniors, we sold Tupperware and magazines. The two most memorable moments had to be prom and junior class play. The class play was titled THE VERY GREAT GRANDSON OF SHERLOCK HOLMES, and prom these was "Nights Are Forever." In August of 1979 the senior class came back to be a class for the last time. Everybody looked forward to prom and senior trip. The class put on a morbid play entitled SOLOMON GRUNDY, THE MORTIFIED MORTICIAN. Our wish for the class: May every senior have as many good times ahead of him as good memories behind him.

Junior Class Sells Magazines, Candy

The class of 1981, better known as "Thee Juniors," spent much of their time getting ready for prom, the main event in a junior's life. There was a lot to be done: decisions to be made, bands to be contacted and, the hardest of all, the Eastern Illinois University ballroom to be decorated. Magazine sales, the class play, and candy sales at noon hours were the highlights of the money making projects.

Sophomores Struggle to Raise Money for Prom

The sophomores had a busy year. Their two biggest projects for money making were work day and a Tupperware party. Two of the sophomores' privileges and new experiences were taking drivers' education and selecting class rings. Class rings were originals and different. The biggest fear of driving was earning the name "reckless driver." The best thing about the sophomore year is finally being over the "greenie stage." The class of 1982 is looking forward to two successful years ahead.

"Greenies" at work

The freshman, nicknamed "greenies," had several bake sales as their main money-making projects. They soon learned that money isn't easy to come by.

There were many other things for the freshmen to learn and several classes to take. Science, math, consumer buying, English with Mrs. Keller, and physical education were among the ones to choose from. Another lesson was penny pushing. The upperclassmen saw that the freshmen were taught just how to do it, too.

Senior Class Presents

Solomon Grundy, The Mortified Mortician

Jeff Moberley, Yvonne Garrett, Janet Elzy, Les Martz, Janie Pierce, Rory White, Lori White Bruce Morgan, Russ Rose, Bonnie Carter

Solomon Grundy, a greedy, overly ambitious mortician hires two pre-need salesman to further his investments in cemetery plots. His assistant is a brother-in-law whom he detests but tolerates because of his love for his (Solomon's) feather-brained wife.

Soloman dotes on his only daughter, refusing to give his permission for her to marry a Jack-of-all-trades, now studying law while he paints houses on the side. To fool the father, daughter and her fiancé plot a fake death of the suitor, with the brother-in-law (in on the scheme) arranging all funeral details.

The daughter insists on a mock wedding with the corpse, and Solomon's greed forces him to accede. At the end of the wedding ceremony, as the corpse sneezes (rose allergy), the hoax is revealed amid much bedlam. The pre-need salesmen reappear with prospective wives and large bonuses. Love has conquered all, and only Solomon Grundy has egg on his face.

SHARING THE NIGHT TOGETHER Homecoming 1979

Front stage and center is . . . Backstage!

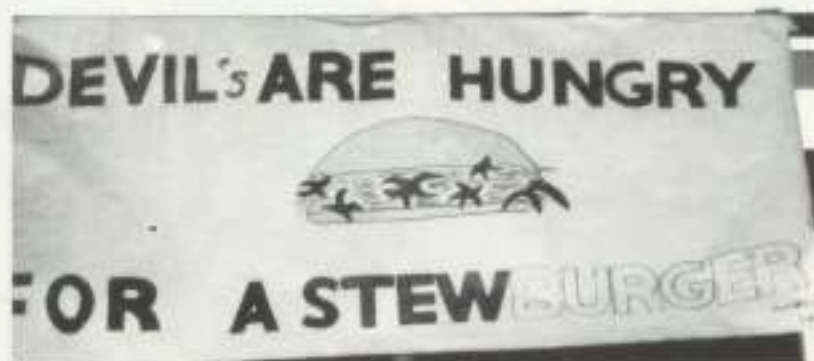

And I could've had a V-8!

This year, as is traditional, W.H.S. had its Homecoming dance the Saturday after the game. Alumni as well as current students were welcomed. Student Council organized the dance, decorating the morning of the dance. The colors this year were blue and white, and the theme was "Sharing the Night Together". The band was "Backstage". Approximately 100 people turned out for this year's Homecoming dance.

Banner Shows Devil Spirit!

Banners were made by each club and class for the Homecoming game. Imaginations and creative artists were put to work to come up with winning banner ideas. The banners were made to promote spirit and pep for the Devils' battle with Stew-Stras Comets. The winning banner was made by the band. Their idea was "Symbols of Devil Power". Chorus came up with "Devils Hit a High Note, Knick the Comets Flat." Their spirit-making creation placed second. Third place was taken by the Varsity Club with "Devils Want A Stewburger".

This year Homecoming had a certain flair to it. It all began on Monday of that week with spirit day. Members of Pep Club were to wear their t-shirts and derbies. On Tuesday we had Mr. Irresistible day, although we never found out who Mr. Irresistible was because no one turned in their lips. Wednesday banners were to be up. Thursday was slogan day, and to wind up the week, Friday was dress-up day. We also had pancake breakfast. After every bell that rang Friday, the students were to yell "Go, Devils, Go!" This made everyone more enthusiastic for the ball game that night.

Vickey was crowned our 1979 Homecoming queen Saturday night at the dance. A local band, Backstage, was the entertainment for the evening.

Breakfast for Devils

Coach Lowe envies Coach Groothuis' cooking ability.

Mr. Sims begs for the chef's secret ingredient.

What's hiding in there, Rory?

"I can't believe I ate the whole thing!"

Pancake breakfast is a traditional event by the Pep Club. They served a breakfast of pancakes, juice, milk and coffee for a quarter. The coaches cooked the pancakes. This year, for a change, the pancakes did not get burnt! But they still have room for improvement.

Altogether
now—mm-mm
good!

W.H.S. volleyball has a successful season

W.H.S. volleyball enjoyed a winning season this year, both varsity (14-6) and JV (10-5). The varsity squad finished second in the NTC tournament, losing the championship to Stewardson-Strasburg. They also finished second in conference standing with a record of 8-1. At the Pana District, Windsor lost its second game to Pana. Thirteen girls played JV and there were eight varsity letterwinners.

NOT JUST RAH-RAHS

The cheerleaders of 1979-80 put in a year-round effort. They began in May '79 with choosing outfits. Practice continued throughout the summer. Most of the girls went to the Lakeland cheerleaders' camp July 16, 17, and 18. The cheerleaders and some Pep Club members made stuffed basketballs for the varsity basketball players. For Homecoming they bought a cake for the boys. Some of the girls were also bat girls and statisticians for fall baseball.

CONSTRUCTION NEARING COMPLETION AT W.H.S.

The gym was started in the fall of 1979. It will be finished by summer time. Construction was slow because of delay in shipment of materials. By mid-January, the metal sides, rafters, and steel supports had arrived, however, and the workers were soon constructing the gym.

The gym's capacity is 1200. It contains two locker rooms, a storage room, a ladies' restroom, and a lobby. The outside of the gym is a yellowish color. We are proud to possess this valuable addition to our school.

Senior Class of '80 Wins

David Phipps believes in "foot" power.

The senior class once again continued to dominate the Homecoming Activities held each year. The Class of '80 pulled out a stunning upset over the sophomore class by winning the last events. Some of the activities included a sack race, egg toss, wheelbarrow race, wagon race, Jello-eating contest, scooter races, human pyramids, and a shoe race. The sophomore class finished second all-around. The juniors finished a close third, and fourth place was awarded to the freshman class.

Angie Brandenburg proves that freshmen are "backward."

New money making game, profitable

This year we sold hotdogs during home games along with popcorn. The hotdog cooker was borrowed from the Kiwanis Club. The project was successful enough that we decided to continue with it in the years to come. We went back to selling the full line of peanut products again this year. Increase in selection showed increase in profit.

As a service to our community, we decided to try Operation ID supported by the Farm Bureau; this project is to deter farm theft by stamping identification numbers on all types of farm machinery.

We have 29 members this year, including 9 greenhands who participated in the Greenhand Day activities during F.F.A. week.

Soup Supper major money maker for F.H.A.

This year the F.H.A. held its annual soup supper on December 2, before the Lovington game. It proved to be more successful than the year before. Even though all the food was donated, the grocery bill was still high. However, we cleared $240. Most F.H.A. members worked during study halls, after school, or at the supper. Other activities of the F.H.A. included a mother-daughter supper, visiting Hawthorne Lodge, F.H.A. week, and a secret grandmother tea. The F.H.A. also attended section rally held at Monticello. Several girls attended this year, and three participated in the style show. State convention was also a highlight of the year. Four representatives went from Windsor and enjoyed themselves immensely.

Theme: We Are Rowdie!!!

The Pep Club this year sold derbies for their spirit promotion. These were worn by Pep Club members to the games. The band also purchased derbies to wear when they played between games. Another highlight of Pep Club was the bonfire to open up the season. This was mainly to build the spirit of the fans. Everyone that attended had a good time and learned some new cheers.

A spirit flag was given to the class with the most enthusiasm at each pep assembly. The class then had the privilege to carrying it to the game.

Each class was responsible for a skit at afternoon pep assemblies, and many Pep Club members enjoyed participation in them.

The fans supported the team and cheered them on to a successful season. One of the highlights of G.A.A. was the skating meetings. As you can see in the picture at the left, Deb Nieves is getting ready for some sore muscles and a few bruises. The pictures below tell a story in themselves. We profess to be better skaters than that and really are. But when the camera man came we, all FELL apart. Most of us ended up falling at least once before evening was over.

Girls Athletic Association is no longer state-organized. Most other schools in the area have dropped it, but Mrs. Brandenburg generously gives of her time to keep it intact here at Windsor.

Our other activities include bowling, swimming, softball, camp-in, and camp-out, basketball, and volleyball. Even though the membership of the club has decreased, all who attend have fun at the meetings.

SUPERSTARS OF W.H.S. ATHLETICS?!

That's the W.H.S. Varsity Club, which consists of varsity letter winners from baseball, volleyball, cheerleaders, basketball, and track. The club planned a trip to St. Louis to see a baseball game. Their Homecoming slogan was "The Devils are hungry for a Stew-burger."

The Student Council of W.H.S. sponsored a spook house at Halloween. It was held at the old feed mill on Maine Street. They also held a bake sale at the freshman tournament in December. Proceeds went towards decorations and entertainment for the Homecoming dance.

Student Council cooperated with Pep Club in planning activities for Homecoming week. These included a tee-shirt and derby day, poster and slogan days, and a flannel shirt day. Student Council also organized the Christmas activities, which included a Jello-eating contest, tug-of-war, pyramids, shoe scramble, and a scooter race.

Members Learn Disco Songs, See Mexican Performance

Círculo de español

In October members of the Spanish Club went to the Assembly Hall to see Festival Folklórico, a group of Mexican performers. The troupe sang, played various instruments, and danced several traditional dances. It was enjoyed by all who attended. Spanish club bought records of American disco songs and commercials. They listened to these at a meeting and enjoyed them tremendously.

Speech Club Holds Thespian Initiation

Kim Curtis, Sec.; Bruce Morgan, Pres.; Mrs. Keller, Advisor; Janet Elzy, Reporter; Bonnie Carter, Treas.; Lori Boyer, Stud. Coun. Rep.; Russ Rose, V.-Pres.

Each spring the Speech Club holds an initiation ceremony for its new Thespians. It is held at the same time as National Honor Society initiations. To be a Thespian, one has to have one hundred lines in a class play or for dramatics night. These can be accumulated over four years of high school.

Speech Club members are also able to take a one-act play, monologue, or duet acting skit to speech contest. Speech Club is also in charge of dramatics night, although anyone from the student body is eligible to perform in it.

Co-op class still alive at W.H.S.

Despite the decrease in interest in many of the elective classes at W.H.S., the co-op class is still one of the liveliest of the senior electives. Not only do the students get on the job training, but they also learn to plan and live on a budget. They are taught to keep records of each pay check and to balance books and figure income tax.

There aren't very many pictured, but the class has around ten members.

C.W.T., New Program at W.H.S.

Students in the C.W.T. Program are placed on a job in the community and surrounding area hopefully matching their interests and their abilities. They can spend as much as half a school day on the job earning money with the remainder of the day being spent in the classroom.

Students are evaluated often by the pre-vocational staff and employers with as close a contact with parents as possible.

Just a few of the objectives of the pre-vocational program are to increase occupational awareness and knowledge of the students and to relate the education and training of these students to employment requirements.

All of the objectives lead to the overall good of preparing the student for gainful and self-satisfying employment which will make him economically self-sufficient upon graduation from high school.

Yearbook off to an early start

Standing: Yvonne Garrett, Bonnie Carter, Steve Bridges, Eric Finley, Eric Luce, Jeff Moberley, Janet Elzy; Sitting: Mrs. Marstand, Kim Curtis, Nancy Montague, Jenny Cordes.

We began preparing for this year's yearbook soon after the 1978-79 school year ended. Our co-editors for the 1979-80 year had already been selected and had decided to go to a journalism workshop at EIU. Bonnie and Yvonne spent a week at Eastern slaving away and learning how to plan a yearbook the coed way. After their week of training, they came back to Windsor and set up several meetings with Mrs. Marstand right away. The theme and layout for the book were decided on very soon. Next order of business was to get people recruited for the staff.

After that, the book got under way. Since the yearbook is supported by advertising, the staff spent several days out of school trying to sell ads. Even though we sold more ads dollarwise, our book had to be cut down somewhat because the number of ads wasn't as great as in the past.

The staff was organized earlier than in the past. We started meeting at the end of August with an orientation meeting for the new members. We added sophomores to the staff to get some of the younger students interested so that the staff would be more experienced and have more know-how in future years.

To be on Pow-Wow staff, one has to write up a short summary of why he would like to be on staff and what changes he might make on the yearbook.

As the first deadline rolled around, things got rather rough. We just managed to make it on time. Soon after (too soon really), our second deadline came. Even with all the problems of getting the staff meetings and getting pictures taken and developed, we managed to make it again. Next came our staff pictures. We had them taken at the Mattoon Journal-Gazette office; the theme of the book (in case you hadn't noticed) is the newspaper. Our co-editors got the bright idea of having pictures taken at the newspaper office. (Well, we got out of school for a little while, anyway.)

The year ended in a great success. Everyone enjoyed the year. Even though we did have a few hassles, we met our last deadline on time.

Co-editors: Bonnie Carter, Yvonne Garrett.

Librarians, Great Help

The student librarians were an essential asset to the library this year. These volunteers helped all who used the library, from those who read for pleasure to those who used the books for research. They put books in order on the shelves and updated the card catalogue.

When a student could not find a book, a librarian came to the rescue and found the book if it was not checked out already. Those study hall volunteers should be commended for making the library run a little smoother.

From the top are librarians Maria Keck, Katie Hartman, Freda Tipton, Amy Cameron, Darlene Hite, Sue Cannoy, Troy Shultz, Teresa Helton, Bill Thompson, Dennis Morrison, Maude Daily (full-time librarian), Laura Steele and Terry Pfeiffer.

News Travels Fast

The newspaper staff had one major role this year: To collect news from the high school about the activities at school and the people involved in them. The staff found out interesting happenings and events, wrote the new up and sent it to the local newspaper. There it was published to let the community in on what was going on in their school. The articles were a great help in reminding students of important events and dates or telling them of outstanding student projects or accomplishments.

Joann Brandenburg instructs Sherry Van Gstran, Angie Brandenburg, and Janet Elzy in news writing.

Academic Team New Rule For NTC

Advisor, Mr. Wilhelm; Yvonne Garrett, Tony Spivey, Bonnie Carter, Dawn Welsh, Bev Rankin.

This year the Academic Team was written in as an event in the National Trails Conference. Mr. Wilhelm is the one accredited for this. Every school in the NTC is to have an academic team and is to compete among the schools in our conference. This is effective as of the 1980-81 school year. Schools in the area are trying to get teams going, but without the necessary lights and equipment it is very difficult.

The meets are made up of two competing teams with five members each. There are two types of questions, toss-ups and bonuses. The categories under which the questions fall are math, science, social studies, fine arts, humanities and miscellaneous.

The W.H.S. team was organized and prepared more for meets because of all the time and patience Mr. Wilhelm put into coaching the team. Thanks, Mr. Wilhelm, for the beginnings of a new and growing sport here at W.H.S.

* Since the picture was taken, the W.H.S. Academic Team has grown in members.

Citrus Sales Head Band Activities

The band is made up of students from grades 7-12. This year the band sold oranges and grapefruit as their money making project. Most of the members helped with the sales. The band cleared $1000. Deb Nieves, Bonnie Carter, and Kirby Floyd were top sellers.

The Christmas concert was held December 11. Spring concert was also a success.

They played several of their favorite songs in both concerts.

The band members played for every home game and supported the Pep Club by purchasing derbies to wear while they played.

This year's officers are: Linda Bence, Treasurer; Jenny Cordes, Librarian; Abbie Hutchinson, Reporter; Steve Bridges, President; Kirby Floyd, Student Council Representative; Katie Hartman, Librarian. Seated is Annette Buesling, band director.

Tim Cordes and Tracey Lee (Back), Rob Stevenson and Dave Phipps (Front) make up the percussion group.

Playing saxophone, alto and tenor, are Jenny Cordes, Abbie Hutchinson, Linda Bence, Jeff Helton, Deb Nieves, and Chris Bryson.

The members of the W.H.S. band who play cornet or trumpet are (Back) Stacey Hampton and Stephanie Daily; (Middle) Mark LeCrone and Yvonne Garrett; (Front) Kristina Daily and Meg Montague.

Chorus and Dance Band Perform

Above, this year in keeping with tradition, the Windsor dance band again played for the junior high awards banquet held in the spring. As in years past, they planned a short concert trip to entertain at other school assemblies. Below, Windsor's chorus group worked very hard to produce a program to extend the band's concert on December 11, 1979. With much effort and practice, they prepared a delightful spring concert to vocalize their abilities.
